SPECIAL MESSAGES

Messages

From the President and Vice-Chancellor

On behalf of all of us at the University of the Fraser Valley, I extend heartfelt congratulations to this year's graduating class. We are thrilled to celebrate the completion of this stage of your educational journey with you. This week, we have the honour of recognizing your hard work and dedication in achieving your goals.

The 2024/25 academic year marked the end of our 50th anniversary celebrations, but also the symbolic beginning of our next half-century. As always, we are deeply grateful to those who have helped to build our university through all of its stages. From our humble beginnings as a "college without walls" in 1974 to the thriving university of today (with more than 16,000 students), our community has supported us.

We now look "50 years forward" with enthusiasm, as we continue to engage learners, transform lives, and build community.

Personally, I will be cheering from the sidelines after this month as I am retiring as President and Vice-Chancellor. I am looking forward to seeing UFV continue to thrive under the leadership of my very capable successor, Dr. James Mandigo, currently serving as UFV's Provost and Vice-President Academic.

My time as UFV's president included a pandemic, a flood, and significant forces of societal change, but even with these challenges, I was delighted to preside over a community of faculty, students, staff, and fellow administrators who overcame adversity and adapted to new ways of learning and working. We have renovated and built new facilities, and helped students learn by doing. Our successes come from the dedication of faculty and staff within the university who work together to create a learning environment in which students thrive, while maintaining our founding principles.

As you venture into the world, be proud of who you are and what you have achieved. We encourage you to embrace st'elt'elawtexw, a strong sense of community; to continue transforming lives through ayeget kw'e shxwaylexws; and to commit yourselves to ey shxweli, the pursuit of all that is good.

As you transition from students to alumni, you become part of UFV's legacy, joining 50,000+ alumni making a difference in economic, environmental, social, and cultural sectors.

Please know that you have made all of us at UFV incredibly proud to be part of your journey. Congratulations, Class of 2025!

From the Chancellor

Ey swayel te shxwexwilhl te lálém (good day to all of you, my friends).

As we gather to celebrate your incredible achievements this week during Convocation, it is my profound honour and joy to be here with you at this very special time in your lives. Congratulations to each and every one of you! I share in the immense pride that your families, friends, and community feel for your hard work, dedication, and success.

My connection to UFV dates back to its early beginnings and I treasure the relationships and memories I forged while working on campus with NITEP, an Indigenous teacher education program, and through other community partnerships.

UFV has always been a beacon of transformation, cooperation, and community support. Even in our formative years, UFV championed understanding and a deep relationship with community. We look “50 years forward” to a bright future where we continue to build on those values and strengths.

As a member of the The'wá:li/Soowahlie First Nation, I am incredibly proud to be part of a university that is authentically committed to the journey towards truth and reconciliation, a value embedded in our institution since its inception. Every day, we strive to live up to our motto Íyáqáwtxw — a house of transformation. Those of us who are part of UFV know that by working together, we can achieve anything we set out to do.

To all of you — students, family, friends, and community leaders and partners — in Stó:lō tradition, I raise my hands in thanks and respect to you for being part of this remarkable journey. We celebrate together with heartfelt joy and excitement. Wishing you all the best on this very special occasion.

Stó:lō Territory

UFV strives to be a place of learning that recognizes, respects, and includes Indigenous ways of knowing. Our campuses are situated on the territory of the Stó:lō peoples. The Stó:lō have an intrinsic relationship with what they refer to as S'ólh Téméxw (Our Sacred Land); therefore, we express our gratitude and respect for the honour of living and working on this territory.

THE TALKING STICK

The Talking Stick is a gift from the Stó:lō people to UFV, honouring all Indigenous people. The Talking Stick leads the academic procession into Convocation and the recession after the ceremony.

The figures on the Talking Stick are a wolf and a thunderbird. The wolf is symbolic of “the teacher” in Stó:lō territory, while the thunderbird represents the highest level of knowledge.

Most universities in the Commonwealth have a ceremonial mace, which accompanies the Convocation ceremonies. It is the staff of office, representing official authority (like the Speaker of the House of Commons).

UFV uses the Talking Stick rather than a mace for this purpose, thus bringing together a partnership between Indigenous and university traditions.

THE DRUM

A gift of the Stó:lō people, the UFV Ceremonial Drum was presented to UFV in 1997 by Steven Point, who was then the Chiefs’ representative of the Stó:lō Nation. The drum features a thunderbird and is used during university ceremonies.

“It’s with great pride that I present a symbol of our fraternity, camaraderie, and loyalty,” said Point at the presentation ceremony.

“We all spent nine months with our mothers, waiting to come in to the world, and we heard her heartbeat, and when we were born, we recognized our mothers by their heartbeat. When we make the sound of a drum it’s a symbol of the heartbeat of our mother. It’s a precious sound, it gathers people together, and we sing our songs.

“That’s why we chose this symbol to present to you. We truly want to come together, and to have a good relationship with all of you. I hope and pray that it will always stand as a symbol of the affinity between our groups of people.”

ACADEMIC DRESS

Traditional academic regalia consists of a gown, hood, and a mortarboard or cap and tassel. The wearing of robes became common in the Middle Ages. In monasteries and universities of the time, scholars wore the same long closed gowns as other medieval men. By the time the University of Cambridge was founded in the early thirteenth century, doctors in law and music were permitted to wear gowns in scarlet, purple, and red. Over time, garments and colours came to identify their university. Regalia colours often matched those of the university patron, or the colours of the city in which the university was located.

At UFV, regalia uses the university's rich green colours. There are vee-stoles for diploma and certificate graduates, while bachelor's degree program graduates wear degree hoods. The coloured binding or trim on the edge of the degree hoods represents the faculty from which a student is graduating.

UFV hood trim colours:

	White	Arts
	Light blue	Education
	Forest green	Business and Computing
	Silver	Health Sciences
	Apricot	Nursing
	Pale green	Science
	Forest green	Social Work
	Emerald green	Alumni Association (blue cord) Board of Governors (silver cord) Senate (gold cord)
	Pale green on a green hood	UFV Faculty and Administration
	The addition of red cord denotes a master's degree

Honorary degree hood colours:

	White velvet	Doctor of Letters
	Purple velvet	Doctor of Laws
	Orange velvet	Doctor of Technology

THE CHANCELLOR'S MEDALLION

UFV's medallion is worn by the Chancellor for very special occasions. The radiant diamonds in the design symbolize future alumni spreading their knowledge. The BC jade in the centre reflects our region's rich farming and ecological roots. This hand-crafted 18kt white and yellow gold medallion was a gift to the university from Brian Lee of Abbotsford.

THE UFV COAT OF ARMS

UFV's coat of arms (on the cover) features symbols of Stó:lō culture, local wildlife, and elements of the landscape.

The UFV motto, Íyáqáwtxw, is a Halq'emeylem word meaning house of transformation, symbolizing the transformational power of education.

Blue herons are Indigenous symbols of inquisitiveness, determination, and excellent judgement. Sighting a heron before a hunt indicated the hunt would be victorious. This parallels the search for knowledge at UFV.

The sturgeon is a symbol of abundance and a source of life that lives in the Fraser River (symbolized by the green and white undulating stripes). These represent UFV as a source of knowledge and vitality.

The hummingbird represents joy, resilience, agility, and the ability to travel great distances. It mirrors UFV's mandate to provide lasting knowledge, the ability to respond to the community, endurance over time, and the transfer of knowledge to students for their journey.

Learn more at ufv.ca/about/coat-of-arms.

OUR HONOURED SPEAKERS & GUESTS

UNIVERSITY OF THE
FRASER VALLEY

STUDENT SPEAKERS

UFV departments nominate students to present the graduate address at each Convocation ceremony. It is an honour to be selected to represent the graduates of 2025. We congratulate UFV's six student speakers.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

Each year, UFV awards honorary degrees to individuals who exemplify leadership, service, and innovation. Their contributions inspire our graduates and reflect the university's values of transformation, community, and lifelong learning.

TUESDAY, JUNE 10 | 9:30 AM

Elena Kasian (Van Buschbach)

Bachelor of Regional and Community Planning

Elena Kasian (Van Buschbach) is excited to be among the first-ever graduates of UFV's new Bachelor of Regional and Community Planning degree program. And she has gained plenty of relevant experience along the way, actively engaging in networking opportunities such as UFV's CityStudio partnership.

Through CityStudio, groups from UFV classes show off a semester's worth of work on a project designed to address a real, practical challenge presented to them by the City of Abbotsford or other civic partners. These projects are presented at the end-of-semester Hubbub event held at city hall where teams compete for prizes, including the chance to have lunch with the mayor.

Elena and her teammates have won the Team Choice award at three separate Hubbub events for projects focused on climate awareness, the Atangard community housing project, and the Old Yale Road corridor improvements project.

The networking opportunities that CityStudio provided led to Elena landing a co-operative education job focused on transportation with the City of Abbotsford for the past year. Through her co-op position, she's gained valuable experience contributing to transportation planning, research, and community engagement efforts.

Elena managed to balance her full-time work with academic excellence, maintaining a place on the Dean's List since 2022.

Following the end of her co-op term, Elena recently accepted a new position that allows her to continue contributing to transportation planning efforts with the City of Abbotsford.

"Elena is a shining example of the success that planning students can achieve in this program," says Dr. Afia Zubair Raja, UFV's Planning, Geography, and Environmental Studies department head.

TUESDAY, JUNE 10 | 2:30 PM

Melissa Schayes

Bachelor of Education

Melissa Schayes is about to graduate with immediate plans to be an elementary school teacher and aspirations of becoming a principal. Helping others, leading, and teaching has been part of her life for decades.

She has been an Indigenous education assistant, a community programs facilitator for the YMCA for seniors and families, a personal trainer, and a day-program coordinator for people with disabilities.

Melissa's volunteer work is also extensive, including working with the UFV School of Education, for Métis Nation BC, and as both a healthy living coach and fit nation leader for the Indigenous Sport, Physical Activity & Recreation Council.

She was also a leader within the Teacher Education Student Association and advocated for students based on the Mission campus.

Dr. Vandy Britton, one of her professors, notes that Melissa is a "say yes" sort of person, who is warm and friendly, thrives on building and maintaining relationships, and is deeply committed to social justice, decolonization, and Indigenization.

These skills have been further strengthened during the Bachelor of Education program, where Melissa found her voice, ardently advocating for the needs of Indigenous and other students who have historically been under-served by K-12 education.

Melissa is also an academically strong student. In her final semester of her Bachelor of Integrated Studies degree she completed 10 upper-level courses while making the Dean's List.

Melissa says that her attention deficit hyperactivity disorder is a super power she can rely on to not only build on her learning, but to educate her fellow students about this condition, helping them to see it in a powerful, positive light.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11 | 9:30 AM

Victoria Francis

Bachelor of Arts, French major

Victoria Francis has a passion for the French language and the leadership skills to share that enthusiasm with others through events, social media, and volunteerism.

She is graduating on the Dean's List, a distinction she held since Fall 2022, and was one of two recipients of the 2024 UFV Modern Languages award for overall best grade point average (GPA) in French.

Victoria revived the UFV French Association, recruited an executive team, and served as its president since September 2024. The members worked tirelessly to foster a sense of community for French students at UFV, hosting weekly events and monthly field trips, and running an active social media account.

Victoria also volunteered her time to promote school spirit and the French language at UFV. The French Association set up a booth at UFV's open house and Victoria personally recorded promotional videos for French programs at UFV.

Beyond UFV, Victoria has volunteered as a classroom aide at Chief Dan George Middle School and the Abbotsford School of Integrated Arts, and as a choir director at the Fraser Valley Women's Institute, teaching music to incarcerated women.

Victoria has an ability to bring others up; she encourages others inside and outside the classroom to reach their highest potential. Victoria balances paid work, volunteer work, and academic excellence with finesse.

Her energetic and keen attitude is contagious. She motivates others to be engaged alongside her: she easily leads through kindness and inclusivity, always striving to improve the world around her through her actions.

Victoria hopes to be sharing her enthusiasm in the classroom one day as a teacher and has been accepted to UBC's Bachelor of Education program with a French specialization.

Macey Michaud

Professional Cook Training
Certificate, Culinary Arts

Creativity in the kitchen sparked Macey Michaud's educational journey. Macey had a passion for both cooking and baking since she could barely reach the kitchen counter.

Macey is graduating from UFV's Professional Cook program, the first step toward her goal of becoming a Red Seal chef.

She recalls that her idea of after-school relaxation was baking or cooking on her own or with her friends, experimenting with recipes and her own concoctions. Her experience in UFV's culinary program has turned that hobby into a career. Her dream is to take the knowledge and skills she has gained through her education and use them to start her own private chef business.

Macey was a nanny for five years, cooking for the toddlers in her care. She says it's been an "absolute dream" to cook for people with a mature palate for a change.

Called "kind, eloquent, empathetic, and a natural leader" by her professor Sian Hurley, Macey combined studies with working in the culinary field. But she also gave back, speaking at UFV events to thank donors for supporting trades students.

"We really appreciated Macey's presence at donor events," says Tracey McCone, UFV's Associate Director of Relationship and Fund Development. "She took the time to engage thoughtfully with the donor, expressing appreciation and articulating the real impact of their generosity. Her ability to connect meaningfully with community partners demonstrated professionalism and poise well beyond her years."

THURSDAY, JUNE 12 | 9:30 AM

Lindsey Roufosse

Bachelor of Science in Nursing

Lindsey Roufosse is graduating from the Bachelor of Science in Nursing program, but she has already gained valuable experience and made history by working as the first ever Employed Student Nurse (ESN) in the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) at Vancouver Coastal Health. She collaborated closely with ICU educators to define the role of ESNs in this demanding sector of health care through a pioneering pilot project.

She is also a leader among her peers, serving as the class representative for her cohort in the UFV Nursing Students Association, and acting as a mentor to new nursing students through the BSN Buds program. Additionally, she served as student representative on the BSN program evaluation committee.

With sponsorship from the BC Nurses' Union, Lindsey attended the Canadian Nursing Students' Association national conference as a delegate representing nursing students from the Fraser Valley region. While there, she collaborated with student leaders from across Canada to discuss key issues in nursing, contribute to the development of national position statements, and explore strategies for political advocacy aimed at strengthening nursing education and the healthcare system nationwide.

Her professors report that Lindsey exemplifies many of the qualities that make for an exceptional nurse, saying that her dedication, compassion, and commitment to patient care set a high standard for all nurses. They emphasize she builds rapport and relationships with ease, and she consistently demonstrates respect and intentionality in her interactions with faculty, staff, and fellow students.

THURSDAY, JUNE 12 | 2:30 PM

Shada Tawati

Bachelor of Business Administration

Shada Tawati is graduating with honours from the Bachelor of Business Administration program, but her accomplishments extend well beyond academics. She served as president of the Human Resources Management Student Association, played a significant role in International Leadership Week, and participated in the European field school.

Shada volunteered for many activities and is highly respected by her peers.

While serving as a greeter at the Sales Management Research Exhibition in 2023, Shada made such a strong impression on one industry participant that she was offered a job as an insurance advisor with one of BC's largest insurance brokers. She continues to work there and was recently promoted.

Shada reports her university experience was a whirlwind of "why not" moments — leading student clubs, traveling for field school, diving into research projects, and somehow always finding herself in the middle of something unexpected and exciting.

She's mapping her next move into the human resources sector and enjoying the post-graduation freedom of reading what she wants, attempting to knit, and "saying yes to just about anything that sounds like an adventure."

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT | TUESDAY, JUNE 10 | 9:30 AM

John Thomas Anderson, OBC

DOCTOR OF LAWS

As a young man, John Anderson dreamed of flying. To finance that dream, he took a detour into the food services industry, where he soared with success.

John earned his pilot's licence while still in his teens, flying a plane before he could drive a car. He had already set a goal of becoming a commercial pilot. Until then, he had to work to earn money to pay for his flight lessons and fuel.

John joined The Oppenheimer Group (dba Oppy), a 167-year-old worldwide agriculture distribution services company based in Vancouver, at the age of 18.

John took time to learn the business of agriculture. He learned about produce from far off lands and developed relationships with the farmers; he negotiated with governments; he worked with media and industry to promote the new products; and he engaged the distributors in Canada, encouraging them to carry new-to-market products. In short order, Oppy sourced products from 27 countries and today has 19 offices around the world.

John was promoted to Chief Operating Officer in 1988, became CEO and President in 1993 and by 2001 was Oppenheimer owner, Chair and CEO, before selling majority ownership to Dole in 2011. He continues to serve as CEO, Chair, and managing partner and recently celebrated 50 years with the company.

John attributes his success to having the right people in the right places at the right time — people who provide strong leadership and who encourage teamwork.

Although his career took a sharp turn, John's goal of becoming a commercial pilot never disappeared. Today, Anderson Aviation, which he started in the 1980s, boasts a fleet of a dozen jets and jet helicopters, serving everything from industry to medevac flights. John now flies himself to many of Oppy's connections around the globe.

And he's kept it in the family. Son Ryan is Anderson Air's President and COO, and he's a pilot too, as well as a proud UFV alumnus, having earned his Aviation diploma in 2001.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT | TUESDAY, JUNE 10 | 2:30 PM

Dr. Shoyshqwelwhet Gwendolyn Point

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Gwen Point had a thirst for learning from an early age. But like many Indigenous children, she faced barriers that made it difficult for her to thrive in the education system.

She persevered, never giving up on her dream. Success followed, but not without struggle. She earned her bachelor's degree. And her master's degree. And a doctorate. Eventually, she became Chancellor at the University of the Fraser Valley, where she had enrolled as an upgrading student decades earlier and later taught for several years.

A number of factors led to Gwen leaving high school before graduation. She put school on the backburner and became a hairdresser while husband Steven continued into law school. But she held onto her dream. When her boss wouldn't give her a raise, she quit and went down the road to Fraser Valley College to enroll in academic upgrading courses.

She kept going, taking university-level courses, eventually returning to teach at the community school on the Sts'ailes First Nation. Along the way she balanced her studies with caring for three children.

Gwen's career progressed, always with the best interests of Indigenous children as her focus. She worked as an Indigenous support teacher in Chilliwack, then an education manager for Stó:lō Nation.

Eventually, she returned to teaching, this time at UFV. She loved teaching at the university level, and continued part time when her husband became Lieutenant Governor of BC, making her Chatelaine of Government House.

And then UFV came calling, asking her to serve as Chancellor.

As she accepts her honorary Doctor of Laws degree, she'll be doing it for her whole community.

"I thank UFV for this honour. Our Elders share that, 'when you stand up one of us you are standing us all up.' For me, this includes my family, my community, and my Nation."

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT | WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11 | 9:30 AM

Grand Chief Hi:olemtel Clarence (Kat) Pennier

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Hi:olemtel Clarence Pennier, known to most people as Kat, has devoted his life to fighting for equity for Indigenous people in general, and the Stó:lō people in particular.

Land rights, Aboriginal rights, education, and reconciliation are among the causes he has advocated for through a long list of formal roles, jobs, and projects. As he works to build bridges between the Stó:lō and the settler community, Kat encourages education as a way to enhance understanding and cooperation.

Throughout his lengthy career working to improve the lives and increase the autonomy of Indigenous people, Kat came to see the importance of creating a balanced relationship between Indigenous people and settler Canadians.

Under his leadership in various roles, Kat guided research projects about Stó:lō history, traditional governance and practices, the wartime experiences of Stó:lō veterans, and the significance of transformer stones in Stó:lō culture, among many other topics. He encouraged the development of educational resources for the K-12 system so that students could learn about Stó:lō culture and history.

Kat also encouraged collaboration with educational institutions, working with faculty and student researchers from various universities, including UFV.

Kat worked with UFV on an Indigenization plan in the mid-2000s and is now community chair of the steering committee for the university's Peace and Reconciliation Centre.

Now aged 80, Kat still goes to the office at the Stó:lō Tribal Council regularly. He was appointed Grand Chief of the Stó:lō Nation in 1995 and remains on the Grand Chief's Council. He reflects that he's done all right in life.

"We all have a purpose. Mine was to learn about land rights and titles and share that knowledge. It's important for people to understand the land and why we do what we do to protect it so that it is there for future generations."

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT | WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11 | 2:30 PM

Gary Teichrob

DOCTOR OF TECHNOLOGY

On the surface, TYCROP is a manufacturing company located on the outskirts of Chilliwack. But in the eyes of founder Gary Teichrob, it is so much more.

“We’re passionate innovators, designers, engineers, and creators, but we pride ourselves in being more than just a manufacturer,” Gary says. “We have a team of extremely talented individuals who have the ability to act upon the opportunities that matter most, those that work towards a sustainable future and energy diversification, fostering a bright future for the generations to come.”

Reading those words, it is naturally synergistic for Gary and UFV to have forged such a strong bond, sharing the same passion for community building and transforming lives. Gary exemplifies innovation and leadership and is a champion of UFV’s trades and technology programs.

Gary, who grew up on a farm in Rosedale, founded TYCROP in 1978 with his wife Elaine. They started with agricultural innovations before branching into transportation, the golf and turf industry, oilfield equipment, and more recently electrification, power generation, and hydrogen technologies. Gary’s inventive mind has fueled the creation of thousands of pieces of industrial equipment, earning him 48 patents.

Gary is quick to give credit to his employees. Once you get past day one of a new business, he says, it’s all about the people who work for you. They are the ones who grow the business. He is proud of what they’ve built together.

“I am deeply honoured to receive this honorary degree, a recognition of the work I’ve dedicated myself to over the past 47 years,” Gary says. “Achieving formal accreditation has always been a dream of mine, and it’s incredibly fulfilling to stand alongside the graduating students this year, despite my career journey unfolding in reverse. I suppose that means I’m committed to working a little longer!”

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT | THURSDAY, JUNE 12 | 9:30 AM

Dr. Jane Buxton

DOCTOR OF LAWS

It was during her medical residency training in Vancouver that Dr. Jane Buxton discovered her passion for public health. She went on to a lengthy career as a leader in public health in British Columbia.

Jane entered the Health Canada field epidemiology training program and was placed at the BC Centre for Disease Control (BCCDC) and Vancouver Coastal Health. It was there she discovered the world of communicable disease outbreaks, which in turn led her to the Downtown Eastside of Vancouver, where she became involved in immunization blitzes to vaccinate people against illnesses such as influenza, pneumonia, and hepatitis A and B.

That was 25 years ago, when the major concerns on the street were the AIDS epidemic and overdose.

Jane helped to develop policies for Insite, the first legal supervised consumption site in North America, established to address these concerns. She and others worked together to implement the introduction of naloxone, the effective antidote to a fentanyl overdose.

Initially, naloxone was only available by prescription, but as overdoses and deaths increased across the country, the policy changed which allows for easier distribution.

“Today, anyone who may witness an overdose can get a kit,” Jane notes.

“They need to know how to recognize and respond to an overdose, including how to administer naloxone.”

Jane retired a few years ago from her position at BCCDC but still supervises three PhD students and gives invited talks. She says she’s delighted with the new generation of frontline workers.

“Students are inspiring. To see their passion and excitement as they learn — it has been a real privilege to be a part of their learning journey.”

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT | THURSDAY, JUNE 12 | 2:30 PM

Susannah Pierce

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Susannah Pierce did not plan to go into the energy industry. But her path took her that way and she thrived, both professionally and as a leader passionate about mentorship and social causes.

She attended the George Washington University for her undergraduate studies and then earned a graduate degree in international relations from Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, with a focus on energy, environment, science, and technology.

As Director of Corporate Affairs LNG Canada (a conglomerate of international energy companies), she earned a solid reputation for facilitating the largest private sector investment in Canadian history. She prioritized relationship-building and saw the need to understand the unique dynamics between communities, governments, First Nations, and businesses.

Susannah most recently served as Shell Canada Limited's president and the country chair (until March 2025) as well as vice-president of Emerging Energy Solutions for Canada. It was not always an easy climb. Not many women have risen to the highest levels in the energy industry.

"There were certainly moments when I know I was looked down upon," she says. "I wasn't an engineer; people thought by gender or appearances I didn't deserve to be where I was. But ultimately, the industry is changing and some of my biggest supporters have been men."

While she was building her own career, she took time along the way to be a mentor for young women and men and to support organizations connected to women, youth, and Indigenous causes.

One issue that affected her deeply was human trafficking, which she became more aware of in recent years.

Along with former Lieutenant Governor Janet Austin, Susannah founded the BC Network for the Prevention of Human Trafficking, a group connecting corporations with many nonprofit organizations in the province.

Your dedication makes this celebration a very special and memorable milestone for UFV graduates and their loved ones.

Thank you to the UFV Cascades Athletics Centre and Wild Coast Production staff, who excel at customer service.

Special thanks to UFV Floral Design certificate students and instructors for the stage floral arrangements.

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

You've made it! On behalf of the entire University of the Fraser Valley community, we are thrilled to welcome you to the UFV alumni family!

As you step into the world beyond UFV, remember that you are never alone. Today, you join a vibrant and diverse community of over 52,000 UFV alumni living and working across the globe. These incredible individuals have walked the same halls, faced similar challenges, and are now making a difference in their communities, and around the world.
